CARD OF THANKS.

I wish to express sincere appreciation and thanks for the many kind acts and words of neighbors and friends who so kindly remanured my dear mother during her last sickness. For the many flowers and kindnesses I am most grateful.
ALFRED H. SPEERS.

EAST STONEHAM.

Mrs. F. E. Speers, one of our oldest correspondents, passed away at the age of seventy-six years at her home in East Stoneham after an illness of three months. She leaves one son, Alfred H. of East Stoneham, and one brother and sister, who live in Lynn, besides many friends who mourn their loss.
Mrs. Speers was a woman of unusual literary ability and the ADVERTISER readers have enjoyed many good things from her pen besides the news from East Stoneham that she has written for the past quarter of a century. Of late failing health and sickness in her family has prevented her writing. Her views were always on the side of right.

WEST FRYEBURG.

Death of a War Veteran.
Friends of Alonzo T. Hale, in this section, better known as Trueman Hale, will learn with regret of the death of a veteran of the Civil war, whose burial occurred in Conway, N. H., Sept. 29th. He had been for a long time in feeble health and at his death was the oldest surviving member of the Conway soldiers belonging to the 15th New Hampshire regiment, Co. E.

Mr. Hale served his town several terms as selectman, was a lifelong republican and an esteemed citizen. By reason of great strength he attained the age of fourscore and one years. He was a member of the local post of the G. A. R., and will be long affectionately remembered by his comrades.

NORTH WATERFORD.

Sick Only One Week.
Our community was greatly shocked and surprised to hear of the sudden death of Lizzie Dresser, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Dresser. She came home from North Bridgton school the 27th of September not feeling well, and complained some of sore throat, and Oct. 8th. The physician had called it tonsillitis, but now they say it was black diphtheria. The deceased was 14 years of age, was a good smart girl and had a great many friends far and near, and everyone could only say good things of her.

The burial took place Monday a. m. Beside her parents she leaves one sister who will greatly miss her, and a great many relatives and friends.

Mrs. Lill Kimball of Whitefield, who has been visiting her old friend and schoolmate, Mrs. Lizzie Jewett with some other friends has returned to her home.

As Mrs. Annie Hazleton looked out the window she saw a very large hawk on the ground, in the field front of the barn. She quickly got her rifle, went to the door and fired but with no intention of killing the bird as he was so far away, but to frighten it away, and as it rose to fly it carried a chicken nearly two-thirds grown for a piece, and as Mrs. Hazleton was close at hand it was obliged to drop it. Mrs. Hazleton picked up the chicken which seemed most dead and went to the shed and got an axe to cut chicken's head off, and had held his head on the block with one hand and the other hand raised to strike head as "I am to say 'I am not dead,' so consequently saved his life for when she put him down he ran off and not a scratch on it only blood came from his mouth. The chicken is very well now.

BETHEL.

Friends of Gould Academy.
Gould Academy and its recent good fortune has been a central topic of conversation in Bethel this week. After ten years of faithful and efficient service, in which the attendance of the school had twice doubled, Prin. F. E. Hanscom had to resign his post and aspirations for Gould Academy realized.

For two or three years it has been almost impossible to accommodate the increasing number of students, but this problem is now solved in a measure, by the purchase, Saturday, by Hon. L. E. Holden of Cleveland, O., of the Bowler estate on Church street, formerly known as the C. R. Wiley homestead. This piece of the academy campus, this piece of the largest and best sets of buildings in Bethel. Mr. Holden will immediately transfer the property to Gould Academy and in the near future the house will undoubtedly be enlarged and remodeled for a home for the girls of the school.

Mr. Holden was bred amid the hills of Oxford County, and more than fifty years ago, laid the foundation for his education, and for an eminently successful career in business and professional life at Gould Academy. During all these years he has cherished in his memory the lessons of love and loyalty taught him at his home. It will be remembered that Mr. Holden gave a principal's home to Gould Academy three years ago and this new gift places him in the forefront of all Gould Academy's benefactors, and will endear him more than ever to teachers, students and the friends and well wishers of Gould Academy wherefore.

The new acquisition gives to the academy all the land fronting on Church street between High and Summer streets enlarges the campus and gives space for new buildings should they be acquired by the school in any time. The school was never in so prosperous a condition as at present. The new Normal course is very popular and supplies a long-felt need and there are other good things in store for the school we have every reason to believe. Long live Mr. Holden and Gould Academy!

On leaving town, Monday morning, Mr. Holden was given a pleasant send off at the station by the presence of Prin. Hanscom, teachers and students of the school. Many were the cheers they gave him intermingled with their school yell. It drew from him a few remarks of golden value to any young person who is starting on a life's career, which were much appreciated by the school and many of its friends who had congregated to see him start.

The autumn tints are becoming beautiful. The biting frosts as yet have passed us with a light hand and many of the beautiful summer flowers are still with us.

Wednesday morning saw all vegetation a black eye, by a crusty little freeze with snow seen on tops of mountains toward the north-west.

Mrs. Sarah (Gee) Upham of Boston and son, Fred L. Edwards, who have been at the school since the old friends of 47 years ago when students at Gould Academy.

The G. T. R. Co. is doing a long needed job of filling and raising the street at each end of the overhead bridge. It is hoped the good work will come at the first crossing above the village near the A. L. Burbank farm.

The soldiers monument will stand on the heater formed by the junction of Maine and Mechanic streets on the outmost point of Eli F. Stearns front lawn and old site of band stand. Fred L. Edwards buys the lot and presents it to the association. The spirit of '01 and '05 which prompted Capt. Clark S. Edwards to leave a pleasant home to help maintain his country's honor, doubtless would have been repeated by the son had occasion called.

OXFORD.

A Grand Campfire. That is the way everyone put it. Even grand day. Warm and bright, with no wind to mar the pleasure of traveling. The rain of the previous day prevented any accumulation of dust. It was essentially Grand Army day in Oxford.

The ladies' Relief Corps and Grand Army Posts from Norway, South Paris, Hebron, Mechanic Falls and Edes' Falls, were invited. Before nine o'clock they began to arrive. Teams with one, two and four horses deposited their loads of happy, joyous people at Robinson Hall until it seemed as though there was room for no more.

The time until dinner was served was a happy social way. The veterans, who gathered outside in the sun and rain, talked over acquaintances, talked over old friends, and the next President of the hall and gathered in little groups, talked about—well about everything under the sun.

Dinner was served promptly on time, and such a dinner as only our good Relief Corps know how to serve. There was an abundance of food, baked white bread, several kinds of cake, apple pies, plenty of hot coffee. The tables were tastefully arranged in Sons of Temperance hall, and their supply of appetizing a confirmed dyspeptic.

The line was quickly formed by Marshal C. T. Wardwell and headed by the President of the Relief Corps, Mrs. Augusta Jones, and Department Commanding Officer, J. W. Chadbourne, marched to the dining hall above. Plates were laid for one hundred people. The places were quickly filled and as every one had brought their appetite with them, the plates of good things rapidly diminished and were quickly replenished, showing an almost inexhaustible supply. As fast as the chairs were vacated, they were at once refilled and before the end of 250 Oxford had tested the hospitality of Oxford's ladies' Relief Corps.

After the dinner hour many of the guests took seats at the tables of the veterans. The veterans talked over past experiences, fought again the battles, lived once more in tents, brought to life the horrors of the prison, the weary hard work and everything that goes to make up a war.

At two o'clock a treat was promised in the shape of an entertainment for the visiting members. Long before that hour every seat in Robinson Hall was filled. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags and bunting, the stage with evergreen, smilax, autumn leaves and potted plants. Promptly at two o'clock, the president of the Relief Corps, Mrs. Augusta Jones, came upon the stage and rapped for order. A few words of welcome to the visitors, she announced the first number of the long program and then until four o'clock there was no let up either in interest or pleasure.

First came a song, "Up and Away," by a mixed quartette—Mrs. Denney, Ida Stone, Rev. Mr. Newport and George H. Jones. Next came the reading of a letter of regret at not being able to be present from Laura E. Phillips, Department President, by Bertie Phillips. The third number was a recitation by A. E. Morse of one of Holman F. Day's funniest pieces, "John W. Jones." Mr. Morse is a prime favorite at all times and he certainly made good. He had a pleasant grim humor which is inimitable and the way he depicted the handy, eccentric but good hearted character, John W. Jones, was conducive to good digestion.

For an encore he gave "Family Gossip." The fourth number was a recitation by the Stars, Love, World Tell, by Marjorie Barker, daughter of Dr. F. N. Barker of Norway. Miss Barker sang in a charming and pleasing manner and the recitation of her song was appreciated by the large audience. Her voice and manner certainly showed the effects of her musical instruction. Miss Barker merited the hearty applause which greeted her effort. For an encore she sang the "Battle ofunker Hill."

Next on the program came a recitation, "Troubles in the Amen Corner," by Rev. Mr. Farnsworth. This was one of the choice bits of the entertainment and showed some of the proclivities of the fashionable church choir. For an encore he gave "A Parody on the Boy that Burned His Father's Barn." The sixth number was the sketch "Maid's Moods and Manners." This sketch depicts Madam Grundy, who has ruled woman-kind since the birth of Eve at her wit and end to find something new for woman's apparel, and in her dilemma visits the witch "Memory" in her cavern, and implores her to bring forth the fashionable dainties of other days that she may gain ideas from the past. The sketch was a styles, which she can use for the coming season. Memory claps her hands and in come the powers, six little girls in pointed hoods, short skirts and full sleeves of bright green. In quick succession, the powers bring forth "Faded of Troy," "Fennyson's Princess," "Marguerite" and "Gertrude." The irrepressible Devil following in is quickly hustled out by the powers. Then follows "Joan Shakespeare," "The Shepherdess," "Priscilla," "Dolly Madison," "Gloomy Foreboding," who brings in a dummy which combines all the most striking ideas in one costume.

Next came the song, "Some Day When Dreams Come True," by Mrs. Denney and Miss Stone. The eighth number was a recitation, "Maria Ann in Agony," by Mr. Morse. For an encore he gave "Family Troubles." Following this came the song, "There was a Little Man," by the mixed quartette. The ninth number was the recitation "I Want a Divorce." Cause of complaint, my husband is a jiner. He followed with the story about the Irishman who got drunk every night and beat his wife. Mary Ann then went to the priest with her troubles. The priest remonstrated with Pat and told him if he got drunk again he would turn him into a rat. The next night Pat came home sober but the following night came in drunk as usual. Mary Ann got behind the table, expecting Pat would beat her. "Whist darlin," says Pat, "I'm not touching you. The priest said he would turn me into a rat. Now here, Denney, my growing smaller and smaller and me running around on the floor, for God's sake, darlin, keep your eye on the cat."

The last number was the flag drill by sixteen young ladies. Each girl had a sober but the following night came in drunk as usual. Mary Ann got behind the table, expecting Pat would beat her. "Whist darlin," says Pat, "I'm not touching you. The priest said he would turn me into a rat. Now here, Denney, my growing smaller and smaller and me running around on the floor, for God's sake, darlin, keep your eye on the cat."

The tableaus of the banquet flags and the view were applauded time and again. Speeches were now in order but owing to the late hour the remarks were very brief. Rev. J. H. Little of South Paris, said that in the view of the grand day, he had enjoyed the thought of talking unnecessary. Mrs. Stearns, president of the Relief Corps of Hebron, and Rev. Mr. Newport spoke briefly, and then Capt. Bucknam of Mechanic Falls wound up the day.

Mr. Bucknam said that of all things connected with the war, the autumn appealed to him most. Whether it be water, milk or applejack, its contents were always appreciated. When lying upon the battlefield at Gettysburg seriously wounded, a comrade, also wounded, crawled to him and put a canteen into his hand, and nothing before since has tasted so good as did the contents of that old, battered canteen. It will be in his memory as long as life lasts.

And now comes the saddest part of all such gatherings, the parting. They have spent a beautiful day, have been amused, pleased, entertained, have seen and talked with people they have not met for a year or more, and may never see again; have exchanged confidences with old friends, have made new acquaintances and cemented the friendship with old ones; have simply thrown care away and abandoned themselves to one jolly, joyous day. It has made them better, bigger and broader minded, and every one will go home with a lighter heart and life's burdens will not seem near so heavy.

The veterans came up bravely for the last handshake, with a smile upon their lips, but some had a suspicious moisture in their eyes. Some know better than they that the silent reaper never sleeps, but is always at work. And ere another year rolls around perhaps one or more from that little band will fail to answer the roll call.

A Phenomenal Shot. James Glover has the honor of bringing in the first deer of the season. He made a business trip to Harrison, Thursday, Oct. 3, and put his rifle into the buggy, thinking he might get a shot at some game. On his return, when some distance from Harrison, he was startled to see a deer break cover, bound into the road and stand for a time looking at him, then turn and run swiftly along the road. His rifle was unloaded and lying in the case.

Quickly putting the whip to his horse and loading as he ran, he started on a stern chase for the deer. After traveling nearly two miles, on coming around a bend in the road, he saw the deer climb a small hill some distance away. Hastily taking aim he bagged away. The deer disappeared over the crest of the hill. The discharge of the gun did not scare the horse but she stopped short in the road, nearly pitching him to the ground.

He grabbed the reins and again started the chase, but what was his surprise on passing the crest of the hill to find the deer lying dead in the road. Mr. Glover loaded it into his buggy and came home the happiest man in Oxford. The deer weighed nearly 200 pounds when dressed, and Mr. Glover and family are enjoying the luxury of deer steak every day.

The story of the adventure is that there is no sign of a bullet wound in the skin or upon the body. Some of James' friends are unkind enough to hint that the deer might have died from fright or heart disease.

John Robinson was in Andover, Thursday of last week. Edwin Parrott was in Portland, Saturday on business. Everett Cook was home from Bates college, Saturday and Sunday.

Arthur Walker is working for Walter Holden in the basket factory. Apple barrels are very scarce and are bringing from thirty to thirty-five cents apiece.

Florence Eaton came home from Gould Academy to take part in the G. A. R. entertainment. Chester McAllister is putting his store on Pleasant street in condition to receive his stock of goods.

Winfield Gammon is building a stable and much needed store-house in the rear of his store on Pleasant street. Walter Lovejoy has moved into the house recently purchased by him of Newton Littlewood on Main street.

A. L. Chaplin of Welchville harvested three acres of sweet corn, which brought him $87.50 per acre at the factory. Angie Thayer has been engaged by Mrs. I. M. Keith to do table work at Lake View hotel during the winter.

Rev. Frederick Newport and Mrs. Newport returned last week from a two weeks' vacation spent in Vermont. Apple buyers are plenty, prices are ruling fairly good and no farmer who has an orchard need go hungry or cold this winter.

Davis B. Wood has 150 early spring chickens which he thinks will bring him $1250. Mr. Wood was in Lewiston, Saturday, looking up a market for his poultry.

The regular bimonthly meeting of Oxford Grange was held Saturday night. Deputy W. S. Larabee of Auburn was present and spoke at some length during the evening.

Eben Roy is working for Leander Wardwell, driving the mail team to and from the station. The change in time necessitates the sending of two teams to meet the forenoon trains.

Miss M. I. Corning, who has spent the summer in Oxford, returned to her home in East Haddam, Sunday. She was accompanied by Nellie Hayes, who will remain with her during the winter.

Henry Klous of Lawrence, Mass., was the guest of John B. Robinson two days of last week. Mr. Robinson accompanied Mr. Klous to Boston, Friday, and spent Sunday at the home of his friend in Lawrence.

A party of sixteen young people from Norway came to the Lake View Hotel for an oyster supper on Thursday evening, Oct. 3. They arrived about 9 p. m. in a hayrack filled with straw. After supper they enjoyed themselves in a social way as only young people can. It was nearly midnight when they departed and it is needless to say they had a good time.

Saturday was gala day in Oxford and the village was filled with a jolly crowd. Several came long distances to attend the G. A. R. campfire. They flocked into the stores and many bought souvenirs of the principal places to take home with them. The ladies of the Relief Corps were eager to the occasion and nothing but well merited praise for their hospitality was heard.

The Weavers gave a concert and masquerade ball at Robinson Hall, Friday evening, Oct. 11. Concert from 8 to 9.30 will be by the following artists: Ada Mae Holden, soprano; Frank E. Holden, violinist; J. Y. Scruton, pianist; J. Dumais, clarinetist; S. Roy Edwards, cornetist. Hall director, L. W. Bowie; prompter, D. L. Holden; aids, Mrs. Mary Thomas, Lagan, Mrs. E. V. Walker, Mrs. W. E. Holden. Oyster supper served in the hall above.

Tuesday the southwest gale and rain were severe. In many sections of the State much damage was done. Shipping also suffered.

WEST PARIS.

Mrs. Ezekiah Farrar, whose death was reported last week, was 57 years old. Her maiden name was Ella Howe and lived in Sumner. She was first married to Milton Dunn. After Mr. Dunn died she married Ezekiah Farrar and came to this village to live, where they have resided for about seventeen years. Mrs. Farrar was an esteemed member of Oxford Rebekeah lodge of this town. About two years ago she became a member of the Woman's Relief Corps of West Sumner.

The funeral was held last Thursday, the services being conducted by Rev. Isabelle S. Macduff. There was a prayer at the house at noon, when a body of Rebekeahs and a few neighbors attended. The regular service was held at West Sumner Universalist church at 2:30 o'clock. Music was furnished by the evening choir of the Universalist church of this place. The W. R. C. attended in a body and there was an abundance of flowers.

Mrs. Farrar was a kind neighbor and will be greatly missed by all who knew her. She leaves a heart broken husband, who has tenderly nursed and cared for her during her two months severe sickness, with unflinching hope and sincere devotion. Mr. Farrar is going to break up housekeeping and will go to Sumner with his sister for a while. He expects to rent his house.

Mrs. David Emmons is considered to be seriously ill. Henry Bates of New Haven is here for a couple of weeks' visit. Helen Dexter is the happy possessor of a new Krakaur piano.

Chester H. Lane, Jr., is serving on the jury at court this week. Louise Dana of Portland is the guest of her aunt, Miss M. L. Dana. Flora Dunham of Chelsea, Mass., and a friend have been visiting in town.

Will Shedd of Portland is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Shedd, this week. Mrs. Thos. Estabrooke is visiting at O. Howard Lane's and other relatives in town.

Dr. F. H. Packard was called to Bethel on Tuesday to attend the funeral of his mother. Ellsworth Curtis and a party of young people had a corn roast in D. P. Curtis' pasture last week Wednesday evening.

Jennie M. Brown was called to Rumford Falls last Saturday on account of the illness of her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. H. Brown.

Allan Cole and S. B. Ellingswood have gone to Dunmer and Millsfield, N. H., on a fall hunting trip. They will be gone a month or so.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Bowker are expected to return this week from a two weeks' hunting trip and outing among the Rangeley lakes. Irving and Percy Bowker accompanied them. Mrs. I. L. Bowker has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Tuell.

R. L. Cummings is the much wanted man in this section just now by all the farmers who have apples to sell. He has begun to buy and pack apples to send to market. There is said to be a very good yield of apples in this section this year, having been estimated that three apple growers will have over 2,000 barrels.

Rev. S. Evans of the Free Baptist church resigned his pastorate here last week and next Sunday will be his last. Mr. Evans is a very smart speaker for a young man and thoroughly consecrated in the work he feels called to do, and it is with much regret on the part of the Baptist people that they are to lose him.

At the business meeting of the Good Will society of the Universalist church, the following officers were elected for the coming year: Pres.—Mrs. L. C. Bates. Sec.—Dora L. Hill. Asst. Sec.—Jennie M. Brown. Treas.—Della H. Lane.

It was voted to hold a harvest dinner and supper at Good Will hall, Thursday of next week, Oct. 17.

The union Temperance meeting last Sunday evening was very interesting. Rev. I. S. Macduff and Rev. Mr. Joslin were the speakers of the evening. Miss Macduff gave some echoes from the State W. O. T. U. convention, while Mr. Joslin related some personal experiences that were very touching. Mrs. F. S. Farnum, soprano; Mrs. C. E. Chase, alto; Rev. Mr. Joslin, tenor; and H. R. Tuell, bass, with Mrs. H. H. Wardwell, accompanist, composed the choir, who rendered some good music. Miss Macduff had a lady friend visiting her, who sang very beautiful solo which left the audience spell bound when she had finished and which was a great addition to the evening's program. Mrs. Farnum also sang a solo very sweetly.

There was quite a gathering of interested citizens at the meeting held at Dunham's hall, Thursday evening, in the interest of fire protection for the village. There will be an attempt to further the interest of our citizens in this matter. C. Howard Lane resigned his place on the board of directors of the C. O. Perham was chosen to fill the vacancy, the committee as it now stands being L. C. Bates, L. M. Mann and A. C. Perham. It was voted to draw up a petition and try to secure signatures, the intention being to raise one thousand dollars by a per cent. of assessment on the village property according to the town valuation. It is recommended that a chemical fire engine and 1200 feet of hose be purchased. Another meeting will be held at Dunham's hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 17.

SOUTH WOODSTOCK. Earl Felt spent Sunday at home. Ernest Brooks of Greenwood is working for J. H. Davis & Son. The black horse of A. D. Bryant died Saturday night with the colic.

O. W. Robbins, who hurt his side two weeks ago, is just so he can do a few chores. Elijah Littlefield and wife from South Paris took dinner with Elwin Russell, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Andrews went to Camp Gindy, Friday night, returning Sunday.

Mrs. Ida Stevens has been very sick the past week but is now reported more comfortable. Mrs. George Farnum and son, Dana, of South Paris and Lelia Chase of North Paris were guests at W. S. Davis', Saturday.

Mrs. Will Hammond and Jennie Bradbury are doing the housework for R. L. Cummings through the apple packing season.

The Hebron underclassmen defeated the seniors by a score of 8 to 2 at foot ball.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Tebbetts are attending the Maine Musical Festival being held in Portland, this week.

Mrs. Earl Farrington gave a party, last Wednesday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Diantha Edwards of Lewiston, who has been her guest for the past few weeks. Mrs. Edwards has many friends here, twelve of whom were present at this gathering, and all spent a very enjoyable afternoon in her company. Mrs. Farrington served ice cream and cakes.

PASTOR RUMBLATT returned last week from his vacation, and resumed the usual church service last Sunday.

William Monroe returned last week from a two months' engagement at the Mt. Washington hotel in the White Mountains. He is now working temporarily at the Waterford creamery.

Frank Willard, who had the misfortune to break one of the bones of his ankle about three months ago, is still painfully disabled from walking or attending to any active business.

Walter Noble, who has been the principal butter maker at Waterford creamery for many years and has won for its proprietor many first prizes and medals for the unrivaled excellence of its product, is soon to close his connection with the creamery on account of impaired health.

Charles Watson of Worcester, Mass., is visiting his brother, W. W. Watson. Mr. Watson is a skilled machinist. He is connected with a large machine shop of which his brothers, James and John are proprietors and active partners, doing a variety of manufacturing and repairing of costly machinery.

Cecil A. Shurtliff of North Turner, who has been engaged to succeed Walter C. Noble as head butter-maker at Waterford creamery was in town last week on a brief visit, accompanied by his wife. He will commence work in the creamery about the first of November.

In the height of the dairy season the past summer, 15 cows yielded in one month on the John Atherton farm cream to the amount of about $125, and it was separated and prepared for the creamery by the skillful hand of a young farmer-girl every day, unassisted.

Eat What You Want.
Science Has Now Found the True Way to Cure Indigestion.

A few years ago, when a sufferer from indigestion went to a stomach specialist, the result was a rigid diet list that almost meant starvation.

But the first thing to do in the case of indigestion or stomach weakness is to strengthen the muscular walls of the stomach and intestines, so that they will care for the food that is eaten. In no other way can this be done as well as by taking a Mi-on-a tablet before each meal.

GREENWOOD.

At the Mercy of Tiberius. Great game of ball on Patch Mountain. When a few of the Greenwood City ball team had gathered a sufficient number of recruits, ages nine to thirty to make a game, they sallied forth to play ball with the Patch Mountain boys.

Defeat was a foregone conclusion with the Greenwood team, but being anxious to play one more game and determined to do their level best they went into battle with courage and endurance and ardor undiminished by the odds shown by the enemy.

When they arrived on the mountain the team from that place was already in the field, and the Greenwood team had to wait for some time before they could get into the field.

They had been standing up after the umpire had called "time." They had practised on the help to that extent that not a spear of grass was to be seen. Well, the game commenced with the Greenwood team on the field. When the mountain boys came to bat the crowd began to make a noise, and every time a score was made you could hear harness bells, cow bells, sleigh bells and blue bells, all ringing at once.

Then there were conch shells, tin pans and wash boilers, to say nothing of other music furnished gratis to the Greenwood team.

Anything in the line of wind instruments at the Greenwood team was not to be seen. The Greenwood team was something terrible and most of the time. It blew so hard that it blew most of the city boys' scores off the field and they lost track of them, but the mountain boys mitted onto all of them and held on for dear life. No wonder the score got one-sided for half of the men are one-sided anyway, the wind having blown them so hard and often that they lean towards Sawyer's.

Will Cordwell is working for Ed Pike. Cullinan, Norway, wants dry cord wood. Austin Hayes is to test the cows in this vicinity for tuberculosis.

H. H. Bisbee of Sweden was in town Saturday on business connected with the sale of apple barrels in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Ring returned home from Oxford, Sunday. Mr. Ring will resume work at his blacksmith shop.

Sadie Lowe and George Frost, recently private in Uncle Sam's army, were married at Berlin, N. H., Sept. 30. They will reside at C. H. Frost's, where Mr. Frost has a position in the paper mill.

The apple paring bee at Charles Swan's, Thursday night, was well attended by young and old. After paring a lot of apples for drying, some were indulged in and refreshments served.

The farce, "Not a Man in the House," will be produced at the New Hall, Wednesday, Oct. 16, by the ladies of the place. Besides the farce there will be music and selections, after which a social is to be held.

Tuesday, Oct. 1, at exactly 4.25 p. m., Stillman Cole shot a deer that weighed 180 pounds. This particular deer met have ever killed in the fact that it had expired. We believe at this writing no other deer has been shot in town.

A part of the crew that is to work for the Paria Mfg. Co. in the woods this winter, went into camp Sunday. Rose Coburn of this place is to drive team this winter for the company and several others in this vicinity will go to work later.

Our better half went to the Waterford fair, Saturday, and came home protesting she enjoyed the fair immensely. We fail to be convinced however, as all the evidence points to a different conclusion. The fact that she returned at five p. m., nearly frozen and in an uncertain temper were part of the signs from which we draw our conclusion.

At an early date the Greenwood Dramatic Club will play, "Tony, the Conqueror," at North Waterford. This is the same play that the club produced, last fall at North Waterford. The club has an audience of with gratifying success. Proceeds are to go to the ball team, and several plays are booked for the winter to raise money for same purpose.
